Really rip it up here, folks. This is a prime blues song, and gives you plenty of chances to play plenty of slides (Other than what I included here.), bends, and any other techniques you can apply to it. It's a good song, and an easy one to learn if you're just starting your foray learning the guitar. There's a good amount of silence in this song, so be sure to memorize and get a feel for all the licks in this song before you play along with it.
